ABBA was FABBA
Great night for Rotary at Cabot with "ABBA" putting on a great show, even if you don't like that style of music, you couldn't stop your hips from swiveling. The Com-mish was also fab on stage propping up Rotary and shushing the rowdy crowd. Lots of shiny attire.

Speaker

Eduardo Tovar Lopez came and spoke to us about Sustainable Farming, right up on Cabot Street at Moranine Farm. Born in Mexico now living in Beverly. His company is New Entry which promotes sustainable farming with training and resources to raise organic or sustainable farming practices.

They specialize in training new farmers and use the tagline "We Don't Grow Tomatoes, we Grow Farmers". They act as an incubator farm with 20+ acres at Moraine Farm. They also offer CSA shares to people in the community.

They are funded in part by TUFTS University agricultural initiatives. They are also promoting special license plates featuring farm goods.

They partner with local organization such as ROOT for organic farming choices, as well as a number of restaurants.

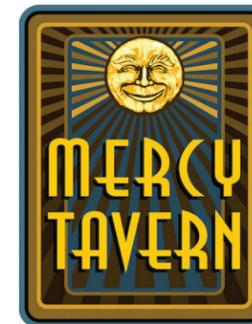

They work with schools such as Glen Urqhart and Boston Public Schools. They are pursuing a partnership with Beverly Schools at this point.

Eduardo took a few questions on food sustainability and how to get involed. You can look up more on them at nesfp.org/newentrycsa
